Reading Quebec Curriculum, 2001	Multiple-Choice Tests		Constructed- Response Tasks
Specific Outcomes	Reading	Vocabulary	Response to Text
COMPETENCY 3 Reads and listens to written, spoken a	and media texts
Making Sense of a Text: Repertoire of Texts
Young adult literature with an equal representation of male and female authors and characters, and of diverse cultural groups
Narrative-based texts in different media including: plays and poetry on topics/subjects of interest to young adolescent readers
Nonfiction intended for adolescent readers, e.g. may also include some texts written or produced for adults on topics/subjects that are accessible to an average young adolescent reader, such as might be found in wide-circulation newspapers, community and alternative newspapers, television news, radio interviews
Popular texts, such as teen magazines, school publications, catalogues, song lyrics			1, 3, 4
Reader's Stance: Constructing a Reading of a Text
Focuses on the world of the text to construct an aesthetic reading	44, 45		5
Focuses on making sense of information in a text to construct an efferent reading	12		1
Focuses on the relationship between own world and world of the text to construct an interpretive reading			2, 4, 5, 6
Reading Strategies: Text Grammars (Structures, F	eatures, Codes and C	Conventions)
Constructs meaning(s)/message(s) by reinvesting her/his knowledge of the text as social construct, i.e. language-in-use:  • Draws on cues in familiar structures, features, codes and conventions to make sense of texts	20, 21, 22, 23, 31, 32		3, 4
Constructs meaning(s)/message(s) by reinvesting her/his knowledge of the text as social construct, i.e. language-in-use:  • Identifies connotation and denotation of words, images and their referents	7, 13, 42	25, 26, 27, 28, 29, 30, 31, 32, 33	2, 3, 4, 5
Constructs meaning(s)/message(s) by reinvesting her/his knowledge of the text as social construct, i.e. language-in-use:  • Makes connections between conventions of a familiar text type/genre and own response(s) /interpretation(s)			3, 5

	Canadian Achievement Tests, Fourth Edition (CAT-4)
Reading Quebec Curriculum, 2001	Multiple-Choice Test	Constructed- Response Tasks
Specific Outcomes	Reading	Vocabulary	Response to Text
Examines the constructed world of narrative text:  • uses her/his response(s) as the basis for connecting own meaning(s) to the conventions used to plot/construct the story  • identifies how readers' or listeners' sympathies are directed to particular characters  • sees that the order of events in a story are deliberately constructed to evoke our compassion or suspicion  • notices elements of characterization (see Competency 4–Writing: Immersion into Texts)	6		3, 6
Applies contextual understanding when meaning breaks down:  • Syntactic: to make sense of new words or to understand a few complex concepts/ideas /information	8, 11, 17, 18, 27, 40, 43	1, 2, 3, 4, 5, 6, 7, 8, 9, 10, 11, 12, 13, 14, 15, 16, 17, 18, 19, 20, 21, 22, 23, 24, 34, 35, 36, 37, 38, 39, 40	1
Sociocultural: draws on understanding of values and beliefs to make sense of incidents, events or message(s)	39		2, 4, 5, 6
Organizing and Reporting Information
Identifies attributes of primary and secondary sources in order to evaluate pertinent information
Selects a note-taking strategy suited to the task, information source(s) and purpose
Selects, records and categorizes information on a topic or subject of personal interest with sustained teacher guidance
Begins to develop organizational strategies to report findings, based on needs of familiar audience and context, with some teacher guidance
Begins to draw conclusions by focusing on pertinence of main ideas	5, 10, 14, 16, 19, 25, 26, 46, 47		1, 2, 4, 5
Manages integrated portfolio by collecting, organizing and maintaining samples of own work, i.e. personal information
Reports information/research orally to a familiar audience, using resources such as multimedia, classroom drama

Specific Outcomes	Reading	Vocabulary	Response to Text
Exchanges with Other Readers: Response Process	ses in the Classroom
<ul> <li>During the reading process, s/he discusses spoken, written and media texts with peers:</li> <li>Interrelates her/his reading stance, reading profile and the structural organization of text (i.e. its features, codes and conventions) to make sense of themes and /or ideas and/or information for self</li> <li>Calls upon reading profile, personal experience and the constructed world of the text when discussing responses with peers and teacher (see Reading Strategies in this competency)</li> <li>Discusses aesthetic and efferent readings of texts by indicating where s/he focused her/his attention and interest</li> <li>Situates her/his responses within the text, i.e. rereads</li> <li>Formulates questions that clarify, expand, reshape and confirm own response</li> <li>Assumes an individual voice in responding to texts:</li> <li>Speaks with clarity, openness and confidence in Speaks with clarity, openness and confidence in discussions with peers and teacher</li> <li>Acknowledges and supports the different responses, interpretations and points of view of peers</li> <li>Draws on discussions with peers to clarify and confirm own response(s)</li> <li>With guidance, begins to step back and reflect on the significance the text holds for her/him</li> </ul>
Reader, Text, Context: Interpreting Texts
Interprets the text for a familiar audience by drawing associations between own world of personal experiences and knowledge and the world of the text by considering:  • Own characteristics as a reader and the constructed world of a text
Predictions and inferences about the view of the world presented in text, i.e. in fiction, nonfiction, and narrative texts presented in different media	4, 33, 34		2, 4, 5, 6
• Initial, tentative impressions about the statement(s) or view of the world the author/narrator/producer is making	1		2, 4, 5
Features, codes and conventions of known text types/ genres, i.e. drawn from own reading profile	15, 29, 30,37, 38, 48		1, 3
Texts s/he has written and produced that have similar structures, features, codes and conventions			3
Identifies features, codes and conventions used to achieve a recognized social purpose and/or function and/or effect and impact on self as reader	2, 3, 9, 24, 28, 35, 36, 41		1, 3, 4
Follows a process to compose, i.e. writes or produces own interpretation(s) of a text (see Competency 4–Writing: Writerly Practices)

COMPETENCY 4: Writes a variety of genres for personal and	social purposes
Repertoire of Texts
Action-planning-based texts to plan, organize and/or monitor own learning
Reflective- and interpretive-based texts to reflect, think, self-evaluate and/or wonder
Narrative-based texts to remember, record and/or story both real and imagined experiences
Information-based texts to explain, persuade, report on and/or learn about new ideas/issues/events
Integrated Projects
Initiates, with teacher negotiation and support, a self selected integrated project
Follows a collaboration process to plan, organize and complete an integrated project (see Competency 1–Talk: Collaboration Process)
Talks about, in regular conferences with peers and teacher, development of project(s):  • Shares interests s/he wants to pursue  • Plans, organizes, changes the project  • Monitors own work, sets time line, organizes workload  • Sets realistic learning and writing goals
Follows an inquiry process, with teacher guidance and support, to research and discuss information (see Competency 1–Talk: Inquiry Process; and Competency 3–Reading: Organizing and Reporting Information)
Drafts a plan of action:  Explains a research rationale, i.e. reasons for choosing this study, what they may gain from it  Proposes a methodology and a time line, even though the plan may change as the study develops  Reflects on changes to the project as it unfolds and how s/he and/or the group managed those changes
Produces texts, within the integrated project, in contexts that are significant to her/him and/or the group for a familiar audience
Writing Process: Writerly Practices
Writes for sustained periods of class time

	Canadian Ach	nievement Tests,	Fourth Edition (CAT-4)
Writing	Multiple-Choic	ce Tests	Constructed-Response Tasks
Quebec Curriculum, 2001 Specific Outcomes	Writing Conventions	Spelling	Response to Text
Produces draft(s) and adopts a drafting process that is context- and text-dependent:  Chooses the context(s) for own writing based on own interests  Talks with peers and teacher  Uses strategies to work out ideas and to draft  Develops work habits such as keeping a writer's notebook/journal, recording observations and ideas for writing  Selects own pieces to develop into final drafts  Attends to clarity, presentation style and personal expression when presenting final draft(s)
Develops self-monitoring strategies:  Creates rubrics/checklists collaboratively,  Tracks own writing process  Learns to manage own workload  Adapts writing process to conditions under which s/he works best
Talks about how s/he adapts writerly practices to suit different writing situations and contexts
Writing Process: Feedback
Confers regularly and throughout the writing process with teacher and peers about works in progress
Collaborates in group feedback sessions
Develops strategies for giving feedback
Develops a sense of responsibility as an audience member for peer and own writing, i.e. demonstrates commitment
Responds to own and peer texts with a focus on the writer's intended meaning
Seeks specific feedback as a writer from her/his peers, i.e. takes ownership of conference
Seeks specific feedback as a writer from her/his peers, i.e. takes ownership of conference
Talks about ways that peer/teacher feedback influences own choices
Writing Process: Revision
Develops techniques to indicate changes for drafts
Uses self as audience
Questions own texts as a writer
Rereads similar texts/models for guidance
Revises content			1, 2, 3, 4, 5
Makes ready use of resources to enhance communication
Talks about own revision processes
Develops own editing strategies

	Canadian Ac	hievement Tests	, Fourth Edition (CAT·4)
Writing	Multiple-Choice Tests		Constructed-Response Tasks
Quebec Curriculum, 2001 Specific Outcomes	Writing Conventions	Spelling	Response to Text
Writing Process: Reflection
Talks about self as a writer in conferences with peers and teacher, i.e. develops a metalanguage to reflect on own progress
Talks about the development of her/his writer's profile
Shares growing profile as a writer in regular student teacher conferences
Self-evaluates pieces of writing
Maintains, organizes and shares an integrated profile that records representations of her/his writing development
Immersion into Texts: Explores the grammars of to	ext
• Follows an inquiry process, working in collaboration with peers and teacher, to explore how a text is constructed and/or some of its social purposes (see Competency 1–Talk: Collaboration Process, and Inquiry Process)
Draws on prior literacy experiences with familiar texts to deconstruct them
• Reads, individually or as a group, more than one sample of the genre to compare stylistic elements and their impact on the audience (see Competency 3–Reading: Reader, Text, Context: Interpreting Texts)
Discusses the purpose of familiar texts within a genre
Identifies some structures and features of a genre			1, 4
Identifies some codes and conventions of a genre			1
Discusses impact on self as a reader of the genre (see Competency 3–Reading: Reader, Text, Context: Interpreting Texts)
Immersion into Texts: Explores the uses of Langua	age
• Discusses how a writer's word choices affect the audience
Begins to talk about, with guidance, how language can represent and/or exclude certain people, values, ideas as well as the power relationships evoked in the text
Identifies how language is used to present ideas and information
Uses texts as models for own writing:  Consults different samples of the genre  Builds criteria for what makes the text effective  Develops a rubric/checklist for how to write a particular genre, in collaboration with teacher and peers  Keeps track of elements of style to explore

Writing	Multiple-Choi	ce Tests	Constructed-Response Tasks
Quebec Curriculum, 2001 Specific Outcomes	Writing Conventions	Spelling	Response to Text
Immersion into Texts: Applying Knowledge of Text	Grammars
Chooses a genre that suits own purpose and context, topic, audience, etc.
Applies text grammars appropriate to the text chosen			1, 2, 3, 4, 5
Develops control over familiar text grammars			1, 2, 4, 5
Experiments with new structures, features, codes and conventions to specific effect in a trial-and-error fashion			4
Begins to combine and/or manipulate different text grammars to suit own purpose(s), i.e. writes multigenre texts			4
Immersion into Texts: Applying Knowledge of Language	guage
Integrates new and familiar linguistic conventions into own writing in a trial-and-error fashion
Makes appropriate and effective word choices to represent ideas, people, things, events, experiences:  Expands vocabulary repertoire and rules, generalizations and patterns for spelling  Uses specialized vocabularies learned from other disciplines when pertinent  Traws on different code systems		1, 2, 3, 4, 5, 6, 7, 8, 9, 10,11, 12, 13, 14, 15, 16, 17, 18, 19, 20, 21, 22, 23, 24, 25, 26, 27, 28, 29, 30	1, 2, 3, 4, 5
Uses conventions of language to establish relationships	19, 20, 21, 22, 23, 24, 25, 26, 27		1, 2, 3, 4, 5
Arranges information in the text(s):  • Develops the text  • Uses cohesive devices	1, 2, 3, 4, 5, 6, 7, 8, 9, 10,11, 12, 13, 14, 15, 16, 17, 18, 38, 39, 40		1, 2, 3, 4, 5
Adapts common linguistic conventions to a specific genre	28, 29, 30, 31, 32, 33, 34, 35, 36, 37		1, 2, 3, 4, 5
Begins to manipulate common linguistic conventions to achieve specific effects			4
Immersion into Texts: Comparing Own Style to Th	at of Other Wri	ters
Engages in collaborative writing activities
Accepts and gives recommendations from/to peers and teacher
Extends repertoire of stylistic elements

	Canadian Ach	nievement Tests,	Fourth Edition (CAT-4)
Writing	Multiple-Choic	ce Tests	Constructed-Response Tasks
Quebec Curriculum, 2001 Specific Outcomes	Writing Conventions	Spelling	Response to Text
Recognizes elements of own style and that of peers and other writers:  Notices differences between own stylistic choices and those of peers  Compares effects on readers of own stylistic choices and those of peers, and revises accordingly  Develops tastes as a writer by consciously adopting elements of the writer's craft
Develops an appreciation of the uniqueness of own style in relation to that of other writers
Recognizes strong points of peers' styles and praises, supports them
Developing Voice: Assuming Roles as a Writer
Uses writing to better understand own experiences:  • Writes about issues, events, interests, beliefs that are important to her/him  • Draws on feedback from peers to deepen or extend own thinking (see Reading: Exchanges With Other Readers: Response Processes in the Classroom)  • Identifies common issues/themes in own writing  • Reflects on significance of themes in own writing  • Expresses her/himself with clarity, openness, and confidence			4, 5
Uses writing to better understand the experiences of others:  • Compares own experiences to those of others  • Adopts voice(s) other than own, in a trial-and-error fashion
Begins to construct a writer's stance (see Talk: Classroom Drama):  • Uses different points of view  • Explores different perspectives of a person, issue, event  • Experiments with tone to create an effect			2, 4, 5
Researching as a Writer
Follows an inquiry process to create informed renditions of people, places and events (see Talk: Inquiry Process):  • Researches, with support, information about a social, historical and/or cultural context to use in own writing (see Reading: Reading Strategies: Text Grammars; and Reading: Reader, Text, Context: Interpreting Texts)  • Consults a variety of sources  • Collects and organizes information relevant to the context to be created (see Reading: Organizing and Reporting Information; Writing: Integrated Projects; and Writing: Immersion Into Texts)
Uses information, with guidance, to support a point of view/ stance and/or create an authentic description of a time and place

Characterizing an Audience
Interprets the expectations of a familiar audience (see Talk: Production Process)  • Looks at similarities between self and audience  • Begins to look at potential differences  • Thinks about knowledge the audience has on the topic and adjusts writing accordingly			4
Experiments with register:  Considers the formality/informality of the context  Explores the relative status of the writer and audience in a familiar setting  Shifts the use of language/diction depending on audience and context  Adapts register to genre for specific effect			4, 5
Begins to examine own and peer responses to each other's texts (see Media: Audience and Producer):  • Attempts to characterize self as audience within a community of writers  • Uses peers' responses to own texts to discover own strengths as a writer  • Responds with interest and openness to points of view expressed by peers (see Reading: Exchanges With Other Readers: Response Processes in the Classroom)  • Reinvests what s/he learns from audience experiences, both as a reader of peer texts and as a receiver of peer responses, to own writing, to build own repertoire of what works for her/him as a writer
